H. S. COACH IS ELECTED

WILLIAM H. HERBERT OF GENEVA, OHIO, SELECTED.

HOLDS AN A. B. DEGREE

Is Highly Recommended by Former Coach, H. G. Ebert, and by Faculty At Ohio University.

William H. Herbert of Geneva, Ohio, has been elected as director of athletics and instructor in commerce at the Maryville High School for the coming year, according to L. C. Cook, president of of the board of education, this morning. It is expected that Mr. Herbert will be here about the first of September to line up his work and issue a call for football men for the Spoofhound eleven.

Since the resignation of Harold G. Ebert, also formerly an Ohio man, the school board and L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of the Maryville Public Schools, have been making an effort to secure a suitable man to fill the position left vacant by Mr. Ebert. Mr. Cook said that the school board has just taken action on the appointment of Mr. Herbert.

Mr. Herbert comes to Maryville highly recommended. He was first suggested to Mr. Ziegler by the retiring coach, Mr. Ebert. The new coach holds a degree of A. B. in Commerce from the Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. His qualifications for taking charge of the athletic department at the local High School institution include three years of football on the Varsity at Ohio University. Here he played halfback in 1922 and guard the years of 1923-24 when he was selected as all-state man at the later position.

He was on the varsity basketball team there one year and substitute another year. Like the preceding Spoofhound mentor, Mr. Herbert is a crack track man. For three years of his University career at Ohio University he was a member of the track team. He entered the Ohio relays in the years 1923-24 and is holder of the Ohio record in the low hurdles and the quarter mile.

He took courses in athletic coaching under Don C. Peden, head coach; and under B. T. Grover, associate professor of physical education, Ohio University. He is strongly recommended by O. C. Bird, director of education, at this institution at Athens, Ohio. Also, T. C. McCracken, chairman of the bureau of appointments of the Ohio University, has recommended Mr. Herbert for physical education and commerce to the Maryville board of education.

Mr. Herbert's experience in coaching is assistant freshman football at the Ohio University, assisted in early fall and spring on the varsity line and was associated in developing the intramural basketball and track teams there.

In commenting on Mr. Herbert, Superintendent Ziegler says that, "He seems to be the type of man we should have and from what information I can gather I judge him to be a good bet." Mr. Ziegler will leave New York City tomorrow and is expected to arrive in Maryville soon.

Mr. Herbert's native home is Ashtabula County, Ohio. He is 26 years of age and single.

GARDEN STUFF IS PLENTIFUL

VEGETABLE PRICES BREAK AS LOCAL PRODUCTS ARRIVE.

POTATOES TO BE HIGH

Biggest Crop of Garden Stuff Is Grown This Year, According to Local Grocers.

When the local supply of garden stuff hits the market down goes the prices on everything in this line. Vegetables that were bringing good prices two months ago and during the winter, which had to be shipped in, are now selling about half of what they formerly brought.

Maryville growers said this morning the local supply of all garden truck is exceeding the demands and that it is their opinion the crop this year is greater than it has been for many years. The local grocers have had no trouble at all in securing more than enough for their trade from the local gardeners. Tomatoes, often classed as a vegetable but considered from the scientific standpoint a fruit, hit a big drop here when the local supply began coming in. Selling at from 20 to 36 cents a pound during the fore part of the season, the tomatoes shipped here gave way to the county tomatoes and are now selling at the local grocery stores from 4 to 5 cents a pound retail. And the local tomatoes are the best that have been brought in for years. However, the first home tomatoes brought the retailers 20 cents a pound.

Beets, carrots, green onions, and the like, which were selling at 10 cents a bunch, have been cut in two since the home grown stuff has been put on the market.

The grocers think that the old reliable "Irish" will be high this winter. One grocer said this noon a man went out of his place this morning, refusing 2 cents a pound, or $1.20 a bushel. He said he was paying as high as $1.35 a bushel for potatoes of extraordinary quality. Irish potatoes are now selling at 2 cents a pound retail. Cabbages have dropped since winter from 8 to 10 cents to 5 cents a pound at the present time.

The first load of home grown watermelons was seen sold by the grower himself on the streets this morning for 2½ cents a pound. He said his melons were averaging about 12-14 pounds. There is a bigger acreage of watermelons in this vicinity than in former years, according to the local grocers, and melons are expected to get as low as 1½ cents a pound. When they were shipped in a few weeks ago the retailers got 5 cents a pound. Hhe home grown watermelons are selling at the stores at 2½-3 cents a pound.

Delicious home grown musk melons are grown in large numbers this summer here, the grocers says, which indicates that the price will be kept low, when shipped in canteloupe brought as high as 25 cents apiece. Now the price for large ones is 10 cents lower.

Green cooking apples are about 75 cents to $1.50 a bushel according to the quality. Some are on sale here now. Plums, local in bearing, are about $2.

And sweet corn. The supply is most plentiful. Thirty cents a dozen was the price two weeks ago, while the home grown corn now, the biggest ears assorted, bring 15 cents a dozen.

Bill Laughlin Held on Larceny Charge

Charged With Stealing Roofing From Andy Seyster Place—Released This Summer From Reform School.

Laughlin was sentenced on February 9, 1923, to the state reform school at Boonville for two years on charge of forgery. He was just released from that institution this summer.

SARGENT MAY BE WAR HEAD

IS BEING MENTIONED TO SUCCEED SECRETARY WEEKS.

DAVIS IS MENTIONED

Friends Are Pushing Dwight Davis, Acting Sec. of War—Is Difficult Political Situation.

Swampscott, Aug. 13. — A cabinet shift that would place Attorney-General John G. Sargent in the war department in event of the resignation of John W. Weeks as Secretary of War was learned here today. Secretary Weeks, because of ill health, is not considered likely to return to Washington and President Coolidge is confronted by the difficult task of filling his place.

New York interests are backing Charles D. Hilles of New York, Republican national committeeman from that state for the war portfolio. Assistant Secretary of War Dwight Davis of Missouri, now acting head of the department, is receiving vigorous support from the political powers of Missouri.

Appointment of either of these might create an undesirable situation in the opinion of the President's advisers through possible alienation of the needed support of the losing state. It is said that Coolidge has asked Weeks to withhold his resignation until this situation can be ironed out.

YOUNG SLAYER FACES MUSIC

EVERETT ADAMS IS CHARGED WITH FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

HIS FIRST MISSTEP

Perfectly Groomed Young Man Passes Through Kansas City Enroute To Sedalia—Father With Him.

Sedalia, Aug. 13.—Charges of first degree murder have been filed against Everett Adams, 17, in connection with the slaying of Adam R. Clawson, Lodi, N. Y., by Roy Rucker, Pettis County prosecutor.

Kansas City, Aug. 13.—Nattily dressed in a grey suit, with a latest colored tie, a perfectly blocked panama straw hat and his coat buttoned in the most accepted collegiate style, Everett Adams, 17-year-old Wilmington, Ohio high school athlete and self-confessed slayer, left Kansas City this morning for Sedalia where he will face charges of first degree murder, charged with having killed Professor Adam Clawson of Lodi, N. Y.

The boy was turned over to Grover Brent, deputy sheriff of Pettis County, Mo., by Sheriff Oil Brown of Garden City, Kans., where he was arrested. He will be arranged tomorrow. Whether he will be tried in the criminal court or in the juvenile court carrying a maximum sentence in the state reformatory until he is 21, was puzzling attorneys today. The statutes and recent decisions of the Supreme Court are in conflict on the minimum age for criminal responsibility, prosecutors here pointed out.

Attorney Roy Rucker said today he was undecided what course will be taken but attorneys and jurists in Kansas City declare the boy cannot be hanged, if convicted, as long as he is under 18.

"I'm ready to face the music," Adams said. "I am sorry that I shot Clawson; I don't know why I did it and I never expected to get away."

In the party leaving for Sedalia today were his father, Henry Adams, a police officer of Wilmington, O., and chief of police, Ben South of Wilmington. "I've known Everett all my life," said South. "He grew up with my boy and never made a misstep before in his life. I cannot account for his actions."

The body of the Lodi school teacher is held at Lamonte, near which it was found and will await instructions from the Clawson family in New York. The inquest will be held this afternoon.

Several years ago Reeme was arrested on a similar charge. He is a fanatical prohibition advocate, police say.

He readily admitted threatening Mellon, declaring that the Secretary was responsible for the present "conditions." Reeme added that he was "instructed by God" to take Mellon's life.

Dorothy's Confession May Not Be Admitted

Legal Battle Is On to Keep Dorothy Ellingston's Confession From Jury.

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—A legal battle to prevent the confession of Dorothy Ellingston, made to the police that she killed her mother, being given to the jury, was in progress today. The defense counsel anounced that they would oppose every effort on the part of the state to introduce this confession, asserting that the girl was temporarily insane when it was made and that the police used "undue persuasion." The confession was to have climaxed the state's evidence and with the exception of two minor witnesses will complete the case.

EXPECT ANSWER SOON

No Moratorium But Better Rate of Interest And Years of Liquidation It is Said.

Washington, Aug. 13.—The American debt negotiators have proposed a plan by which it is believed Belgium may discharge its war debt of approximately 480 million dollars to this country and the Belgian commissioners have cabled it to Brussels for acceptance or rejection, it was announced at the treasury department today.

The nature of the American proposal was such that the Belgian envoys did not feel that further discussions were necessary so the joint conference adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow at which time it is expected a reply from Brussels will be forthcoming.

Treasury officials would not disclose the terms contained in the American proposal but it is understood that it did not include a moratorium. The terms are believed to be somewhat more liberal than those contained in the original draft, especially in the rate of interest and the years of liquidating.

Boston, Aug. 13.—With her left side paralized from a shock suffered in an auto accident, with her son near death with pneumonia, with her whole family worrying, over the trouble that had descended upon the household, Mrs. Mary Curtiss, 45, sought to bring "peace to everyone." She shot and killed her husband, George Curtiss, 45, a ticket agent, next put a bullet through the head of her sick son, Junior, aged 20, probably fatally wounding him, then seriously wounded her daughter, Marjorie, 7. She had called to her other daughter, Dorothy, 18, but before she could arrive from a downstairs room, the mother had turned the revolver to her own heart and died.

THREE KILLED IN JAILBREAK

TWO GUARDS AND A PRISONER SHOT IN OREGON JAIL BREAK

3 ARE AT LARGE

Four Prisoners Carry Out Most Sensational Delivery In History of Oregon Institution.

Salem, Ore., Aug. 13.—Three prisoners were at large today, two prison guards and a prisoner were dead as a result of the most sensational jail break in the history of the Oregon state prison here. Taking advantage of the dinner hour last night four convicts made their way through a hole previously cut in the top of a cell and made their way to the prison yard where they raided the prison arsenal and secured rifles. With these they shot and killed two guards and perhaps fatally wounded a third.

Before escape could be effected by the four prisoners the warden secured a shotgun and wounded one man, while John Davidson, guard from the prison wall, shot and killed Oregon Bert Jones.

The three men who have escaped are Tom Murray, Elsworth Kelly and Abe Willows.

Prearranged plans were carried into effect at 5:55 o'clock when a break was made for the prison arsenal and guns were obtained. Jones led the attack and was shot after he had killed the two guards.

A posse of several hundred citizens and guards started on the trail of the escaped prisoners. It was impossible to make an accurate check of the prisbners remaining in the penitentiary and it was not known whether or not more than three have escaped.

Jones, Kelly and Murray are the three men who started the prison break about a year ago. Kelly and Murray were recaptured after a week of liberty, but Jones was not returned to the prison until two months later.

LEADERS ARE PRESENT.

There is an old saying that a great crisis will produce a great leader, and if this is true it should follow that a leader measuring up to the requirements of any situation, critical or otherwise, will arise out of it. This opinion is offered in the face of statements that recent deaths have taken from present-day ranks most of those worthy of being called leaders. This attitude appears to be an unjust one and an indication of failure to take into consideration qualities that never are the sole possession of any generation and which pass away with the departure of those whom their contemporaries regard as great and conspicuous figures.

They forget the time when they, as younger members of the citizenry, heard the same criticism from older men, who peered back at leaders whom they had idolized and had seen passing on, and who looked with scorn on those to whom the more youthful element pinned their hopes. At all times it is the person whom age has made a little riper than the one just beneath him in the matter of years who thinks the world of letters, industry, politics or science has just about come to an end when death takes someone well known to him and he can see no one to take his place. Quite peculiarly the real exaltation of prominent persons seldom takes place until after death. Living, they are subject to criticism or laudation, according to the camp from which comment comes. If life for them has been long and full of service they may have been recognized as leaders while they were living, but generally it is after they have departed that the disputatious are silenced and the recognition of real leadership comes.

There are leaders now but only the young will recognize them, with the exception of the outstanding few. They must fight their way forward, just as their predecessors have done, and, departing, the void they leave will be a matter of brief to those who will say "there are no more leaders." It is an error that persists in the face of proof to the contrary.

New York's new Cinderella has found the silver slipper slippery. Her supposed benefactor brought a storm of public protest by his brass band method of adoption and, now, seeing the mess he has made of it, he proposes to repudiate the whole business. His method of buying a child was crude and unmoral and deserved all the censure it received. The girl is probably to be pitied. It develops that she has reached the age of more or less maturity but her parentage and her environments would make her especially susceptible to the glitter of wealth and the lure of grandiloquent words. A millionaire can find plenty of older women willing to share his wealth and be a companion to the children he already has, if he will go about it in the way respectable society approves.

During the summer time when a good many small city merchants cut out their advertising and go fishing is just the time when the mail order houses are getting out their catalogs and spending more money than ever looking ahead to the fall business. The big city papers are also filled with advertising every month. In this way they keep the business coming and they keep the public looking their way when it does want something. The man who only advertises when business is good will have many dull periods unless he changes his program.

Tax cuts are not found among the most unkind cuts.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—The Democrats' fight on the Republicans' tax reduction program next winter, won't be against reduction, but against the kind of reduction—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's kind—that it's considered certain the Republicans will advocate.

It wouldn't do to oppose reduction. That's bound to be popular with everybody. The party that fought it would be doing the worst thing imaginable for itself.

On the other hand, the Democrats figure it will be extremely popular to oppose reduction of a sort that will benefit mainly very rich men and big corporations.

That Secretary Mellon wants reduction to begin at the top this time there isn't any question. He's outspoken about it.

He's willing to let the small fry have a little of the gravy but he wants the big helping to go to the sur-taxpayers.

He was euchered out of having his way last year but it appears to be generally agreed among the Republican managers that he's to have his turn at the next session of Congress—provided, of course, they're able to give it to him.

It's no cinch that they will be able to. They probably can manage it in the House of Representatives, but the Senate's doubtful—more than doubtful. The Democrats will be against the Mellon plan and so will most of the insurgents—not only the chronic insurgents but also the occasional ones.

To summarize, tax reduction will be talked about endlessly at the next session of Congress, but it's quite among the possibilities that there'll be no actual reduction—that the puzzle will be left for the seventieth Congress to find the answer to.

W. Rankin Ships Two Cars Steers Tuesday

Walter Rankin, shipping from Nodaway County, sold Tuesday a two-car shipment of 1,010 pound steers for $10.75 at the St. Joseph livestock market.

E. E. Hackett of Nodaway County sold a load of 1,113 pound steers at St. Joseph yesterday at $12.25 and Elmer Thompson sold thirty-seven head of 851 pound steers at $11.50 from the same county.—St. Joseph Stock Yards Journal.

Kling Cashes Cattle and Hogs at St. Joe

M. T. Kling, of Nodaway County, was on the St. Joseph market yesterday with two loads of cattle and two loads of hogs, all of which sold at very satisfactory prices. The cattle end of the shipment comprised two loads of long Hereford yearlings that averaged 929 pounds and sold at $13.50. The hogs sold at $12.30 and at $13.35.—St. Joseph Stock Yards Journal.

THE WEATHER MAN.

The weather man is quite a guy,
A cheerful liar he,
He tells us several days ahead,
What the weather's sure to be.

He tells us when to look for rain,
And when it will be dry,
By looking at barometers,
Instead of at the sky.

To him it don't mean anything,
To have the sun sets red,
Or a rain bow in the morning,
When you first get out of bed.

You never could make him believe,
A ring around the moon,
Was any indication,
Of a change of weather soon.

He'd laugh if you would tell him,
It's sure to rain at night,
When the whip-poor-wills quit singin',
Or the flies begin to bite.

He says it is all poppycock,
That any one can know,
The weather for tomorrow,
By a bunion on his toe.

But I've got it doped out this way,
When he says it's sure to rain,
It's safe to get all ready,
To cut your hay and grain.

And when he has predicted,
Fair weather, I confess,
I don't go on a picnic,
Till he makes another guess.

I'd rather risk a bunion,
Or Grandma's rhumatiz,
Than any weather man I know,
With that machine of his.

Standard Price Set on Parts of the Body

Chicago, Aug. 13.—(United Press)—Prices on certain human parts soon may be as well standardized as prices on automobile parts.

The tendency in modern surgery is in that direction, Dr. Victor D. Lespinasse, famous gland specialist, told the United Press.

"At present the only real standardization of price is in the human blood traffic," the surgeon said.

"Ten years ago when blood transfusions were rare, the price often ran in excess of $100 a pint. Today the price is around $35 and probably will stay in that region indefinitely."

Having achieved "entirely too much publicity" through his rejuvenation of Harold F. McCormick shortly before his marriage to Ganna Walska several years ago, Dr. Lespinasse declined to set a price on human glands.

"The supply seems to run far ahead of the demand," Lespinasse said, "I have a stack of letters here as high as your head from men offering their glands at all prices but it is seldom that I hear from a prospective buyer.

"When gland operations become more popular, the market will stabilize."

Traffic in human bodies in Illinois and many other states is now controlled by the state governments, eliminating the opportunity to "sell his body to an undertaker" formerly open to the "down-and-outer." The state claims all unidentified bodies and parcels them out to medical schools for laboratory use.

Miss Helen Miller will go to Longview, Wash., as soon as she finishes her contract with the chautauqua system she is now with, having a position in the city schools of Longview. Her brother, Earl, is located in that city.—Hopkins Journal.

R. J. Edwards Would Like to Take Swim in Old Swimming Hole at 102 River

R. K. Townsend of Oklahoma City, Okla., who is visiting his son, E. L. Townsend, of this city, has received a letter from R. J. (Arch) Edwards of Oklahoma City, Okla., in which he writes about the old swimming hole in the 102 river and says that some day he is going to take a swim in that old river in that self same spot if it is possible to do so.

Mr. Edwards has been away from Maryville for thirty-five years, locating in Oklahoma City in the early 90s. He has been very successful and is wealthy.

His letter to Mr. Townsend is as follows:

"I went over to Mother's for my usual visit and read Mrs. Townsend's letter with great pleasure. It carried me back thirty-five years to the scenes and events of my childhood which are ever dear to me and I closed my eyes in retrospect and saw Maryville as it existed the day of my departure, as well as the days of my early youth of fifty years ago. I could visualize the old court house square and the outflowing streets of 50 years ago, and as they existed thirty-four years ago when I left there. I could see and know of the changes between those two dates, and consequently understand that equal or greater changes have taken place since, and that Maryville must indeed be a beauty spot with its wonderful country, but alas it lacks the old faces and the old friendships and the old actors in the scenes of those days, who have one by one retired to the final resting place in the north and south Maryville cemeteries. I read with pleasure her statements of the different friends who had come to see her, or whom she had met, and I felt a twinge of sorrow as I noted how many vacant places there are in the panorama of my youth. True, as she said, there are few of the old friends left. Of course, there are many representatives through their children, many of whom of course I remember, but a larger number that were too young for me to know intimately. I should like so much to come back there and look forward to the day when I can lay aside the press of business cares and come up there for a visit and renewal of friendships with those who remain behind. I think it must be sometime soon or I shall be most unhappy. It has been my custom every Christmas to send out Christmas cards to a large number of those who were near and dear to me in my boyhood days, through which means I have kept in touch with them throughout the length and breadth of this great land, from Washington to Massachusetts and from Los Angeles to Florida they are scattered but I have their addresses and hear from most of them once a year and sometimes oftener. I just had a long letter from Dora Carver McNaul in Los Angeles and also another from Affie Cox Vanderpool at Seattle, also one from Josie Parcher DeVoe, of Boston, and Cora Snapp, in New York, also a letter from the successor of Frank G. Airy, one of my close personal friends, who died unbeknown to me last Thanksgiving day at Atlanta City of pneumonia. It was a shock to me and the gloom of it and the untimely death of Ned Hurlburt, another most intimate friend at Denver, had a tendency to depress me, but for the fact that my obligations and family ties impel me onward and to push aside sad memories I should no doubt feel quite depressed, but with my returning health and my family about me, with the attendant obligations and the spirit and urge that lies deep within me I am up and on again.

"I wish that Mother were physically able to go back to Maryville and renew her old time friendships. There would be much to sadden her it is true, but the glad and joyful impulses of greetings of those who remain would no doubt be of immense benefit and value to her. She lives very much in the past and among the early Maryville days. I am in hopes that her improvement may continue to the point of confidence in undertaking the trip so that she and Mayme could go up for a week or ten days. She envies you in your ability to do what lies deep and close within her heart, and I am in hopes she may take courage and undertake it.

"Remember me and them to all of our old friends. We four sat on Mother's front porch last night and dwelt upon the scenes of forty years ago. Dode Carver's letter referred to an incident of our school days with her, Carrie Pride and myself the chief actors, and Professor Cheney, then principal of the schools, as the managing director in correcting us for transgression of the school laws. It was an incident that had escaped me, but portrayed so vividly by Dode in her letter that it all came back to me with many joyous and happy moments of retrospective reverie. I enjoy such hours as that we had last night. It softens ones nature and brings us closer together and adds greatly to the joy of living.

"I hope you and Mrs. Townsend may have a long and successful visit there and see all of old Maryville and its environs. I would give a penny to be able to take off my shoes and as a bare-foot boy make a run from the place of old Bob Stockton's store down past the fair ground and Frank Bellow's home, to Fling's brickyard, and Clark's ice house to the swimming hole in the old Hundred and Two, where we used to go swimming after a foot race as to who should get in first. Frequently we would shed what few clothes we wore as we ran. Truly there is no memory that comes back to a boy that furnishes a keener zest and joy than those that cluster around the scenes and events of the old swimming hole. Some day I am going to take a swim in that old river in that selfsame spot if it is possible to do so."

GROWTH SMOKING HABIT REQUIRES PAPER IMPORT

Washington, Aug. 11 (United Press).—The cigarette habit has grown so rapidly in America that manufacturers in this country are forced to purchase great quantities of cigarette papers from abroad, according to the Department of Commerce.

American cigarette production has increased from seventeen billion to twenty-three billion in the last ten years. Ten per cent of the paper used in the cigarettes comes from Nantes District of France.

The Nantes District, it is estimated, will send the United States more than 9,000,000 pounds of cigarette papers valued at $2,500,000 during the present year.

FRIENDSHIP STARTS OVER A HEN EGG

Vanbursenburg, Ill., August 12.—(United Press)—Mrs. Otto Greenwood, this city, has as her guests Mr. and Mrs. William Goetz, New York City.

The two women, although they have always lived a long way apart, have been friends for thirty years, and it all started over a hen egg.

Mrs. Greenwood was at that time Miss Dora Brackenbush, of Hurricane, Ill., and a coy miss of 15. An egg with her name and address written on it was among some purchased by the present Mrs. Goetz's father.

Both girls were the same age, and the New York girl wrote to Dora. The correspondence continued thirty years.

Chillicothe, Mo., Aug. 12. — August Henderson, farmer here, has an unusual flock of chickens that appear to be fully developed but on one side. There is no explanation for the unusual flock.

Fulton, Mo., Aug. 12.—An outbreak of fires here that occurred in the two Fulton bakeries within the same hour, might have indicated a plot, had not the blazes been explained by other causes. The Home Bakery and Fulton Bakery were both damaged.

KANSAS STORM BRINGS HAVOC

RAIN, HAIL AND WIND HITS SECTION NEAR HUTCHISON.

CROPS ARE DAMAGED

Trees Uprooted. Buildings Blown Down and Homes Destroyed—No Loss of Life Reported.

Hutchinson, Kan., Aug. 13.—Meager reports are beginning to reach here from the damaged sections surrounding Hutchison which were visited last night by a heavy rain, wind and hail storm. Telephone lines are down and the roads are in bad shape delaying any estimate of the damage done.

Crops, according to early reports, have been damaged over a large area. The storm had all the appearances of a tornado leveling buildings, uprooting trees and killing livestock. It lifted a barn on the farm of Joe Hale and slammed it with crushing force against the house, demolishing both buildings.

Along with the wind was a heavy hail and rain. In some places the hail drifted against buildings to a depth of more than a foot. Persons, whose homes were destroyed came to Hutchinson to spend the night. No report of any lives lost has reached here yet. Livestock was blown about the country and farmers were trying to round up their animals.

Motorists along the paved highway were right in the storm's path and many were blown off the road.

Steinbeck said he trusted the man who had driven to his house during the day.

Fulton, Mo., Aug. 12.—The arrival here of the Sparks circus called to mind to its advance agent, the wasted effort of a Ballyhooer several years ago on the occasion of another circus here. The ballyhoo man observed a group of people approaching his tent and went into action. His colleague pronounced it his banner day. The man absolutely done his profession proud. His oration was so enthusiastic and appealing the circus men went in themselves to be assured the show hadn't changed its sights. And after the brilliant climax for his request for a lone dime, the tenth part of a dollar, the crowd passed on unmoved. It almost broke his heart. But he was appeased later when it developed the crowd consisted entirely of pupils of the deaf school here.

Mrs. Will Strauch and daughter, Betty Lou of Barnard, are visiting at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Mattie Masters, today.

Hobbies of the Great and Near Great in American National Life

SENATOR GEORGE P. M'LEAN.

The whole broad sweep of America has found Senator George Payne Mc Lean (R., of Conn.) in pursuit of his favorite hobbies—fishing and hunting.

McLean may well be termed the "transcontinental sportsman" of the Senate, for he certainly "sees America first" in practice of his hobbies. The Senator fishes in Maine lakes, in the ocean off Nova Scotia; he hunts for ducks along the South Atlantic shore or in lower lake region and for big game in the Rockies.

The Senator, while a red-blooded huntsman, always gives his game a chance. He is a warm protector of young animal life, and he fathered the Migratory Game Bird bill, recently passed by Congress, in an effort to prevent the extinction of game birds through the slaughter of their young in nesting periods.

His love for fishing makes him one of the Senate's leading disciples of Izaak Walton. The Senator is never so well pleased as when he has gathered a number of his friends for a fishing cruise in Maine lakes. He loves to camp out overnight in the open, building lean-to sleeping quarters in front of a great camp fire. On such trips he wants his meals cooked over a blazing logfire.

Stocks Brooks.

His devotion to the Walton science recently caused the Senator to stock trout in the brooks of his 1,500-acre farm at Simsbury, Conn. Now he can fish for the finny gamester when at home, without journeying into the far places.

This farm, incidentally, is another of the Senator's hobbies. He maintains on it a prize Guernsey herd, which is the envy of all his neighbors and the pride of the Senator's heart.

The Senator frequently enters his prize Guernseys in the Connecticut State fair contests. He is happiest when the Guernseys bring home blue ribbons by winning over the best cows of his State. If a McLean Guernsey scores over the product of a "dirt farmer" then the Senator's pleasure is doubled, for he feels he's quite some farmer himself. His friends attest to this conviction, as they are invariably taken to the farm on sightseeing trips when they visit the Senator.

Likes Loud Ties.

There is another hobby of which the Senator is just as proud. It is a predilection for bright neckties. The more brilliant the pattern, the more flaming the color, the greater the Senator's satisfaction. This partiality, it is even whispered, has been the subject of many a conference in the McLean family, but without any effect upon the Senator's desire.

It is said his family complains that the Senator will even get out of a street car after his eye has been attracted by a bright tie in some show window just passed. He is accused of going back to such a show window, admiring the scarf through the glass and finishing by making its purchase. The family usually term it another "atrocious tie," but the Senator will warmly affirm his selection is merely a "tie with a kick to it."

Noted Scholar.

The Senator is a constant reader. As a lover of Shakespeare he has equipped his library with all of the Bard's works, and in the evenings, unless some current novel has won his attention, he will read and re-read Shakespeare's masterpieces. Indeed, the Senator is a noted English scholar, and he has collected a great library of English works.

The theatres also attract the Senator. His favorite type of entertainment is a musical comedy, and never a season passes but the Senator visits New York to view "The Follies" and all the other extravaganzas. For recreation, he walks and golfs. His golfing is not very good, and the Senator has described his game as being in the "dub class," but still he likes the golf course for the exercise it gives him.

There is a secret weakness, too—a love for succotash, which he orders for every dinner. "I love it," he says, and offers no further explanation.

Tomorrow—Senator George Moses.

ARKOE.

Despite the counter attractions of the Barnard picnic, Arkoe folks were loyal to their Sunday school and made the banner attendance record of the year. There were 107 present.

The banner class of the day was the Daisy Circle, taught by Miss Amanda Pope, in absence of regular teacher, Miss Mary Yeisley. There were 22 present.

Two special numbers were rendered—A song by the Gideonites, men's Bible class, and a solo by Mrs. Floyd Ambrose.

There were several visitors present and two or three new members came in.

Mr. Tibbs, a former pastor will preach at the Christian church in two weeks, Aug. 23.

There will be a special Temperance number next Sunday.

Brookfield, Mo., Aug. 12.—Brookfield, in keeping with many other mining sections of the nation, has her own coal problem.

Brookfield has four mines employing 25 men. They produce about 25 tons daily, equal to the present demand for home mined coal. However, the greater per cent of coal consumed here is imported from Iowa and Illinois.

A check of the capacity of the local mines has shown that if the city would patronize its own colleries, 300 miners would be employed instead of 23. The coal is said to be equal to other soft brands and can be produced cheaper.

Salisbury, Mo., Aug. 12. — Fifteen prized persian cats perished when fire swept two buildings and a residence here. Mrs. Shannon D. Smith, owner of the cats, was badly burned. The Smith Mercantile Co. and Elring department store suffered losses.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—A belated rally carried wheat futures to a higher close on the Board of Trade today. Coarse grains lagged and were fractionally lower at the finish.

Wheat was again in professional hands. A conspicuous feature was the total lack of any buying incentive. Extensive selling credited to eastern houses, depressed the market after lethargic opening.

The increased country movement and almost ideal weather conditions for the new crop caused heavy selling in corn.

A firm undertone was in evidence in oats.

Provisions dropped off.

Moberly, Mo., Aug. 13.—The well-known automobile manufactured in Detroit by a man who almost ran for president, is called upon to perform many noble duties, but not self-respecting automobile could withstand the treatment that Harry Miller inflicted on his tin mount.

Miller decided the car needed washing so he drove it into the Forest Park Lake. He miscalculated the depth and both sank out of sight. Harry came up but the car stayed down. The car was pulled out and "revived" several hours later.

Local Legion Post Is Cited at State Meet

Colonel Stayton of Independence Elected Commander—Next Convention to Be Held at Moberly.

The James Edward Gray post No. 100 of the American Legion of Maryville received a citation from the state department of the American Legion at the state Legion convention which was held this week at Springfield, for its remarkable growth in membership, according to Walter S. Todd, one of the delegates from the local post, who returned last night.

The Maryville past was represented by three others, E. W. Gray, Leonard Gray and Francis Cummins, and Henry Buhler was also in attendance. Walter Bussell was a delegate from the Graham post of the Legion.

Col. Edward M. Stayton of Independence was elected state department commander by acclamation.

Vice-commanders were elected as follows: Eugene Munger, Bloomfield; W. C. Williamson, Trenton; O. B. Poundstone, Sedalia; D. H. Mahoney, Hannibal; Herbert Warden, Nevada.

The state finance officer is Al Schlapper, Concordia; Judge advocate, Stratton Schartell, Neosho; chaplain, Harry L. Reader, Webster Groves; national committeeman, Harry Castleman, St. Louis.

E. W. Gray of Maryville was elected as a delegate from the fourth district to the national convention at Omaha this fall.

The 1926 convention of the Missouri department will be held at Moberly, it was decided late yesterday by the committee on location of next year's meeting. Moberly and Sedalia were the strongest contestants for the convention.

Posts of the Missouri American Legion in fifty cities and towns have paid in cash $125,000 toward the state quota of $200,000 in the national legion 5-million-dollar endowment drive for the relief of disabled veterans of the World War and their dependents.

Ford Denies Report Hudson Co. Acquired

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 13.—(United Press)—Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, today issued a formal denial of persistent reports that control of the Hudson Motor Car Company had been acquired.

"There is not now and never has been the slightest foundation for the rumor that the Ford Motor Company has acquired or is seeking control of the Hudson Motor Car Company," the formal statement said. "This rumor has persisted until in some quarters sheer repetition has given it the status of fact. For this reason we now make formal denial and state that rumor in all its forms is unfounded."

St. Marys and the B Square Nine to Play

Engagement Between Two Local Teams Will Take Place Sunday On Walk Diamond East of 102 River.

Two local baseball teams will clash Sunday on the ball diamond at the Walk farm, east of the One Hundred and Two River. Bills were put out today announcing the contestants as the St. Mary's Church team and the nine of the B Square service station.

It is rumored that Joe Thompson will be on the mound for the Church team when the two city teams engage Sunday afternoon.

This will be the second game this season between local ball teams. The St. Mary's team played the Merchants team a few weeks ago in what was said to be for the city title. Now the church aggregation has taken on the B Square team. It has been suggested that the winner of the St. Mary's B Square game take on the Barmann nine in the near future to give the exact ranking of the four city ball teams.

Weather No Different Now Than Years Ago

St. Louis, Aug. 13.—(United Press)—Weather today isn't any different than it was back in the childhood of modern business men.

Montrose Hayes, weather forecaster for the government here, is authority for this statement.

"We have just as many snows, just as many cool and hot days and just as many floods as when our grand dads were boys," he said. "Comparison of weather records year after year reveal about the same cycle of variations."

Events magnify with passing time, Hayes contends. This gives rise to the old saying:

"Now when I was a boy we had snows over fences, up to our waists. Times are different."

That is just the same as when one goes wandering back to the boyhood swimming hole.

"You go back to the old swimmin' hole and you are surprised to see how small it now looks. I can cite my own case. As a boy I recall a period which I thought was extremely cold and of long duration. In later years I looked it up. That cold spell was just an ordinary one, so far as the years are concerned, and its duration was exactly three days. My imagination had magnified it many times. We do have big snows and floods and all the other things, just like when we were boys," Hayes said.

A study of the snowfall records for the last 40 years reveals the heaviest snow in that period came in March 30, 1890, when 20.4 inches fell. The next deepest snow was on February 20, 1921—15.5 inches. Before that January 11, 1909, there was one of 12 inches and on Christmas Eve, 1915, one of 9.5 inches.

Rural Pupils in Iowa are Superior

In Iowa it is a good fortune to be the child of a farmer in so far as those abilities and attitudes which make for superior scholarship in high schools are concerned. Bulletin, 1923, No. 46, of the U. S. Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, gives the results of a study of distinguished high school pupils of Iowa. Facts were obtained for 316 high school seniors who were rated as distinguished pupils. Of the 316 pupils earning this rating 172 were children of farmers. This is 54 per cent of the total number. The farm population constitutes only 41 per cent of the total population of the State so it is evident that the farm bred children secure a higher representation among distinguished high school seniors than their numbers would lead one to expect.

From all the facts presented in the complete study the general conclusion is reached that superior students in Iowa high schools come from country homes where they have had the advantage of both town or city and country life.

Shooting Stars Visit Kansas City Recently

Astromoners Say They Were Visible All Over Western Hemisphere—Compared to Shower of 1833.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 13.—(United Press).—A delegation of "shooting stars" from the meteor belt of Perseids were visitors at Kansas City recently. A meteoric shower furnished a spectacular sight to thousands of people of that region.

According to astronomers here the stars were visible all over the western hemisphere. The shower was comparable in beauty to the great shower of 1833, they said. The peak was reached at 9 a. m., Tuesday night when twelve flares were counted during a period of about thirty minutes. The astronomers say that some of the stones may be found on the earth near here.

Meteoric showers, according to Dr. E. G. Davis, president of the Kansas City Astronomical Society, are caused by a meteoric belt coming in contact with the atmosphere of the earth. The friction of the air and of the parts making up the belt causes the small particles to become heated and eventually blazes.

Some of the meteoric stones found on the earth are of huge size but generally the "stars are small and burn up before reaching the earth. One of the most famous of these stones weighs two thousand pounds and is in possession of the University of Arkansas.

General Rain Is of Much Benefit to Corn

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 12.—The outstanding favorable feature of the weather in Missouri during the week ending Tuesday morning, August 11, was beneficial and corn saving rain that occurred over probably more than three-fourths of the state. Up to the time of writing this report no rain of importance had fallen in the east border counties from about Warren and St. Charles southward to the Arkansas border. There also is need of more rain in the central western counties having Henry County as a center.

Considerable upland corn in Henry and surrounding counties and in Gentry east to Linn and north to Putman County, and in the east border counties from the Missouri River south to Pemiscot has suffered from lack of moisture. Some reporters say it will not make more than 50 per cent of a crop. Corn once seriously affected by drouth never fully recovers; but the larger part of the crop in the dry district has not been seriously hurt and will be restored to normal following recent good rains. The bulk of the crop is in good shape; it is in the ear generally except in the extreme north; many fields in the south it is denting and many fields along the Missouri River have advanced to that stage. This means that it is already practically made. There now is enough moisture in the soil to carry the bulk of the crop to maturity.

Wheat threshing was delayed by the rains in most localities but is nearing completion. Plowing for fall seeding has begun. Grain sorghums and pastures will be greatly benefited by the rains. In Henry and other nearby counties stockwater was getting scarce.

The cotton crop has continued in good condition and the general advance is satisfactory. Bolls are opening in many fields.

Same Fine Studebaker Coach

—but at a new low One-Profit price

BECAUSE all Studebaker cars are manufactured on the one-profit basis, we have been able to reduce the price of the Standard Six Coach without sacrificing any of the equipment or quality which made it a big seller at a higher price.

Scientific design, better materials, and finer workmanship distinguish it. And the following self-evident superiorities make it more up-to-date than the newest "yearly models":

Excess Power — According to the rating of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce this is the most powerful car of its size and weight.

Abundant Room — Room to stretch your legs—room to enter or leave without disturbing occupant of folding seat.

Sturdy Body Construction — Fine northern ash and hard maple are used. We pay a premium to get the best quality steel.

Full-size Balloon Tires — for which the steering gear, fenders and even the body lines are specially designed.

Automatic Spark Control — eliminating the usual spark lever on steering wheel.

Safety Lighting Control — on the steering wheel.

Instruments — including 8-day clock, gasoline gauge, speedometer, oil-pressure gauge and ammeter, in single grouping under glass, on beautiful silver-faced dial.

Improved One-piece Windshield — automatic windshield cleaner, weather-proof visor, rear-view mirror, cowl lights and cowl ventilator.

Coincidental Lock — to ignition and steering wheel, which serves to reduce the theft insurance rate on Studebaker cars.

New-type Cowl Ventilator — foot operated.

There are only two cars manufactured on the one-profit basis—the Studebaker in the fine-car field, and the Ford in the low-price field. Only in these two cases does one company in its own plants and with its own centralized organization make all bodies, all engines, all clutches, steering gears, differentials, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings, and drop forgings.

Studebaker has no "yearly models," but instead keeps its cars constantly up to date. Therefore this Standard Six Coach is ahead of the newest "yearly model," yet owners are protected from the artificial depreciation which has cut millions of dollars from the resale value of many makes during the past 30 days.
